

Breakout sessions in Webex

In the Breakout Session panel, select Breakout Assignment.

Select “automatically for randomized groups, or manual to assign students to specific groups.”

Click add sessions and add and name each breakout session.

1. Add and name sessions you want to create.
2. Check the box next to each participant you want in a group.
3. Click “Move to session” for those selected students. Repeat this step for all of your groups.
4. Select “Start breakout sessions” and all students will move to their assigned session.

Once sessions have started, you may visit sessions in process from the break out menu. You may also send a message to some or all groups by selecting broadcast message. Select “End all breakout sessions” for a forced return of all groups to the main session with a one minute warning and count down. Select “Ask all to return” for no forced return.